EVENT DETAILS

Utah Goes Global: Exporting Resources for the West

Presented by WUSATA, in partnership with the Utah Department of Agriculture, Utah's Own and World Trade Center Utah

November 14th, 2025 | Taylorsville, UT

8:00 am - 3:00pm (Lunch Provided)

Registration Closes: November 11th, 2025

This comprehensive export workshop brings together Utah's leading trade and agricultural organizations to help access funding and resources for international growth. The Western U.S. Agricultural Trade Association (WUSATA), in conjunction with Utah's Own, the Utah Department of Agriculture and Food, World Trade Center Utah, the U.S. Commercial Service, and the University of Utah, will deliver expert guidance and resources to accelerate your international growth.

- Learn how to access up to 50% cost reimbursement (up to $300,000/year) for your eligible international marketing activities
- Discover ways to utilize State and Federal funding opportunities
- Access dedicated resources available for trade shows, packaging, advertising, and more.

WUSATA and other trade specialists will be present to assist and build tailored strategies that combine expert insight with available resources. This event is designed for Utah's food producers, agricultural businesses, and manufacturers at any stage of their export journey. Whether you're exploring international opportunities for the first time or looking to accelerate existing operations, you'll leave with actionable insights, clear next steps, and connections to critical resources.

Led by Justin Riggs, Engagement Executive - Western United States Agricultural Trade Association.
