Exhibiting at Winter FancyFaire provides companies with the opportunity to connect with buyers from major food and beverage channels. The show is strictly B2B, with attendees vetted to help ensure exhibitors connect with active buyers and distributors who are there to conduct business.

Winter FancyFaire also attracts international buyers from a variety of markets, giving participating companies an opportunity to build both domestic and international business relationships.

To exhibit, companies must be a product-qualified Specialty Food Association member in good standing (Tier 2).
