EVENT DETAILS

This seminar is designed for Western U.S. exporters, particularly growers, packers, processors, and food marketers, who are seeking to enter or expand in the Egyptian market. The session will provide a practical overview of Egyptian consumer and regulatory expectations, with a focus on health and wellness, convenience, premiumization, and cultural buying patterns such as Ramadan. Participants will learn how to align with Egypt's import regulations, halal certification, and labeling requirements; position U.S. products as high-quality and trustworthy; and identify where opportunities exist in categories such as grains, nuts, dried fruits, beverages, and seafood. The seminar will also explore strategies for working with Egyptian buyers and distributors, navigating cultural and regulatory complexities, and building brand credibility in a dynamic and competitive market. A featured case study will highlight lessons from a successful U.S. exporter supplying food products to Egypt. Attendees will leave with actionable steps to prepare their supply chains, ensure compliance, and strengthen their readiness to capture opportunities in one of the Middle East's fastest-growing consumer markets.
